

This is a detailed map of South Dakota, overlaid with a complex network of colored lines representing various cooperative organizations. The map shows county boundaries and major cities across the state. Neighboring states are labeled: Wyoming to the west, Nebraska to the south, Kansas to the southwest, and Minnesota to the north. Specific cooperative logos and names are visible, including Farmers Union Co-op, Westco, Farmers Cooperative Association, and many others. The lines connect different parts of the state, indicating a widespread network of cooperatives. The map also includes latitude and longitude coordinates along the edges.